This Was The Year That Was

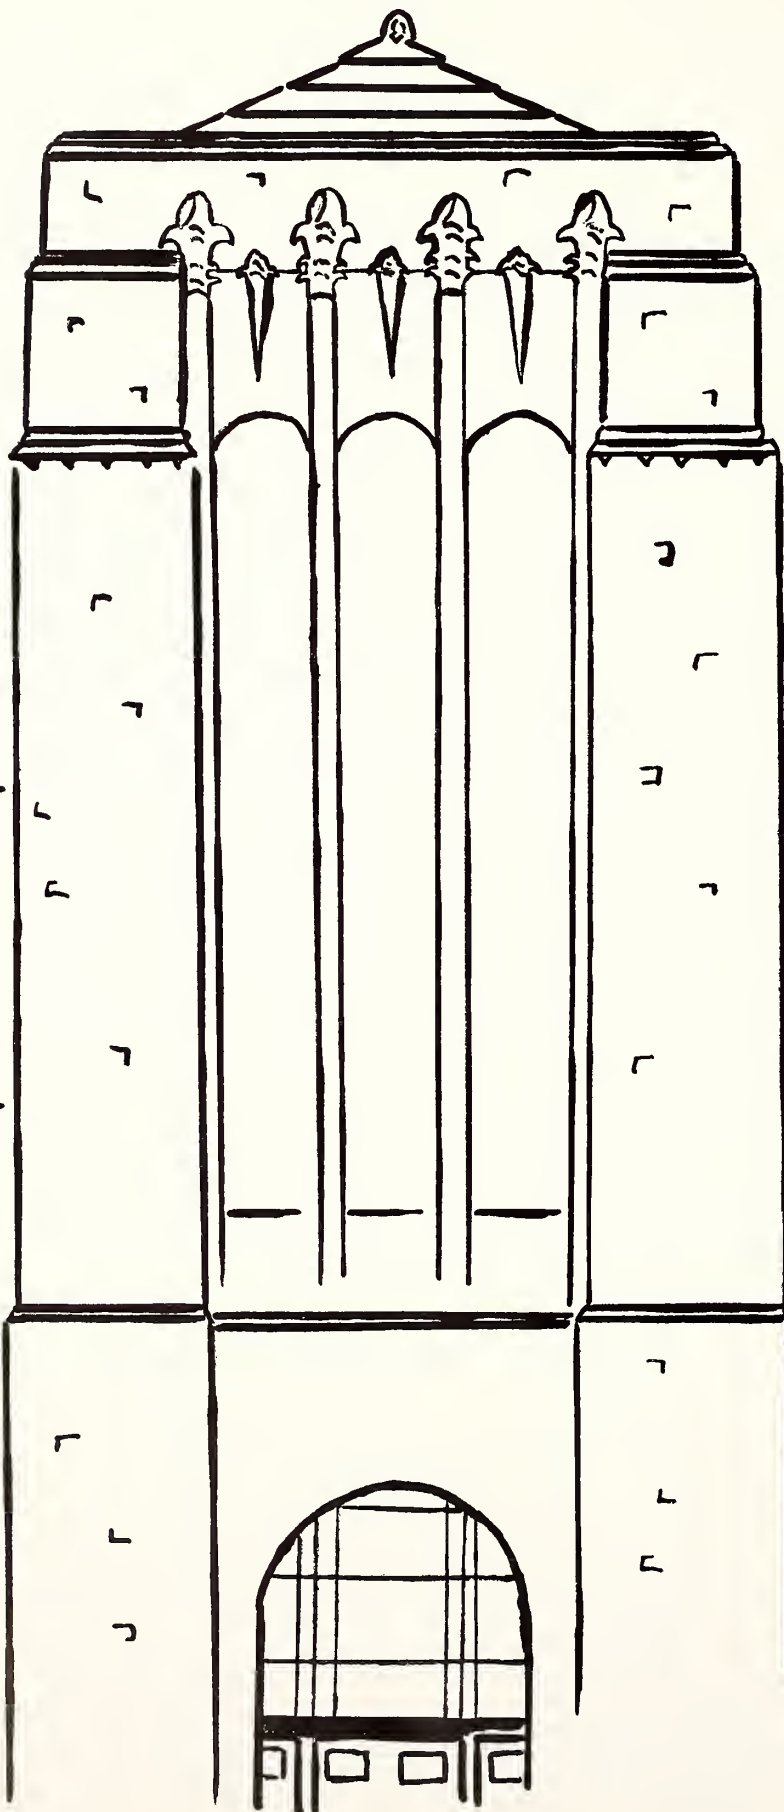

-65-

This was the year that was full of fun, happiness, and problems. Each day began with buses screeching their tires in front of the gate. Lively laughter from small groups, and solemn faces of individuals thinking and worrying about the coming day . . . Bells ringing unseen and students crowding through doors. Talk of the election, the sound of rain and the whiteness of new fallen snow were also part of the school year. Students working math problems and others thinking about the problems of young love. Heavy feet on stairs, locker doors opening and closing. Homework assignments and pep sessions. Club meetings and sports events.—These are the memories and thoughts of high school. Each a real and vital part of a year at Tech.

Our Administration

"This Was the Year That Was" could not have been possible if it hadn't been for the faithful administrators of Tech. The administration was helpful, hard-working and dedicated. Everyone, from the principal to the secretaries proved his willingness to give assistance to troubled Techites many times each day. They were interested in every facet of Tech life and energetically worked on all projects and programs that transpired on campus. The counselors gave Titans advice in career planning and tested aspiring scholars with college entrance examinations. Program planning, roll rooms and curriculum—administrator's nightmares—were handled easily and smoothly by the staff. Vice principals and directors worked constantly on school activities, safety, campus grounds, the school finances, athletics, publications, evening school and many others. Tech has a long history of devoted workers. Our present staff has done its best to carry on the tradition that was begun by these early administrators. They, like our "forefathers," still strive for the high school, academic and athletic standards that were set by the first Techites. In short, Tech has an administration of which it can be very proud.

Tech's Man Of The Year

Mr. Howard L. Longshore was the most important person in this successful year. As of September, 1964, "our man of the year" became officially the principal of Arsenal Technical High School. In previous years Mr. Longshore served as a vice-principal in charge of finances, and also building and grounds. Mr. Longshore handled the difficult executive position of principal with ease and efficiency. He had the final decision on all important matters concerning Tech. He supervised the work of our five vice-principals who were in charge of various jobs. Numerous duties made his work interesting and fulfilling.

These five vice-principals helped in the supervision and management of our Tech alongside Mr. Longshore. Their many varied jobs included evening school, supervision of student counseling and keeping office records up to date. But that wasn't all. Our important men of "the year that was" were in charge of planning programs for students and teachers, building and grounds maintenance, supervision of finance, and safety patrol matters. These duty minded men kept our school running smoothly by virtue of hard work and long hours.

James Stewart,
Assistant Director of Evening School

The Guidance Division gave placement and college entrance exams, and counseled the students about scholastic problems. The Audio-Visual Department maintained the public address and film projection systems furnished by our school. Our Athletic Department sponsored all the home and visiting sports. While students are still in school, on-the-job training is made available by the Diversified Cooperative Education Program. Pupils who are not in ordinary learning classifications are entered in the Special Education Division. Tech's splendid buildings and lovely grounds were kept in shape by our Buildings and Grounds Department. The Program Productions Department assisted in production of all-school plays, assemblies, and special entertainment. Its main contribution is the annual sketchbook. Tech's school paper and the yearbook was the work of the Publications Division.

Counselor's Helped During The Year

Ernest Cline, Floyd Tobrocke, Guidance Counselors.

Helping direct and guide Tech students toward their goals in personal and school lives are Tech's understanding counselors. Many Titans look to the counselors for guidance and advice during the school year. Counselors give time in guiding, helping and supporting Tech and Tech's students. Selecting high school courses and planning for adult careers are just a part of the guidance that the counselors give. They also may help students obtain part-time jobs. Another important part of counseling and guidance is the conducting of aptitude and intelligence tests. No matter what the problem is, the students know that they may privately discuss them and find a solution in the office of their counselor.

Ready and willing to accept the many secretarial responsibilities with ability and efficiency was Tech's office personnel. This capable and hard working staff occupied the first floor of the Arsenal. They kept track of all our records, money, and school supplies. Grade transcripts and schedules were also handled by Tech's office staff. The Tech secretaries were always on hand to provide any records which might have been needed. Many counselors helped Tech students to solve any problems that they might have had.

Always on hand to help was the bookstore staff. Too often students failed to realize the importance of these patient smiling people. However, the students were extremely grateful to them and all the others who kept Tech shining on the inside.

SPECIAL POLICEMEN—Wilbert Gruner, George Martin, and Jack Heavenridge.

The office staff had busy days this semester from 8:00 until 4:30 and sometimes beyond. These people performed a thousand and one duties which affected the Techite's lives. This staff issued lockers, typed the daily bulletin, re-admitted students and gave directions to confused pupils.

Credit should be given to our maintenance staff that took pride in keeping the buildings and campus in top condition in spite of student interference. The busy custodians worked to keep the home fires burning and the walks free of snow in the winter and worked equally hard cutting the grass in the spring.

Our Departments

All departments worked hard to make The Year That Was. The co-operation of each of our sixteen departments proved necessary to Tech's year.

The departments offered courses ranging from the traditional English and mathematics to the new and specialized auto-aviation and electrical trades. Many departments offered college preparatory classes, while others prepared students for future jobs. Some departments sponsored contests which made classes much more interesting.

Tech's many departments offered one of the largest curriculums in the country. Each student could find some area of study that interested him.

Many of Tech's departments sponsored clubs. These clubs sparked "after school" interest and enthusiasm in studies. Special projects, field trips, lectures and other interesting events did much to make the clubs enjoyable as well as educational.

Interest, experience, enjoyment, fellowship, and, of course, education were a few of the ideas that developed through these clubs.

English: A Key To Future Understanding ---

This was the year that Tech was at its greatest. Bigger and better things happened in the many different departments. The English Department was one of the most outstanding. As in past years, Miss Irene Rhodes served as the Head of the English Department. She supervised the thirty-four teachers that worked in the department.

Grammar, literature, and composition were the main areas stressed by this department. Classes in journalism, public speaking, and speech arts were offered to students who wished to further their knowledge in these fields. Advanced English courses in college composition, literature and business English were also offered.

The English Department offered special interests in creative writing. Opportunities were given for students to express themselves in contests. English classes also helped us to appreciate and understand more thoroughly literary classics and poems. Tech was very proud of its English Department, as it kept up with the demands of our school.

The hard task of putting out a yearbook was undertaken by twenty-six of the busiest Techites on campus. "That Was The Year That Was" held a high place in the minds of all the staffers. Writing copy, drawing layouts, snapping pictures, and co-ordinating the many facets of work were but a few of the numerous jobs which made up the 1965 Arsenal Cannon Yearbook.

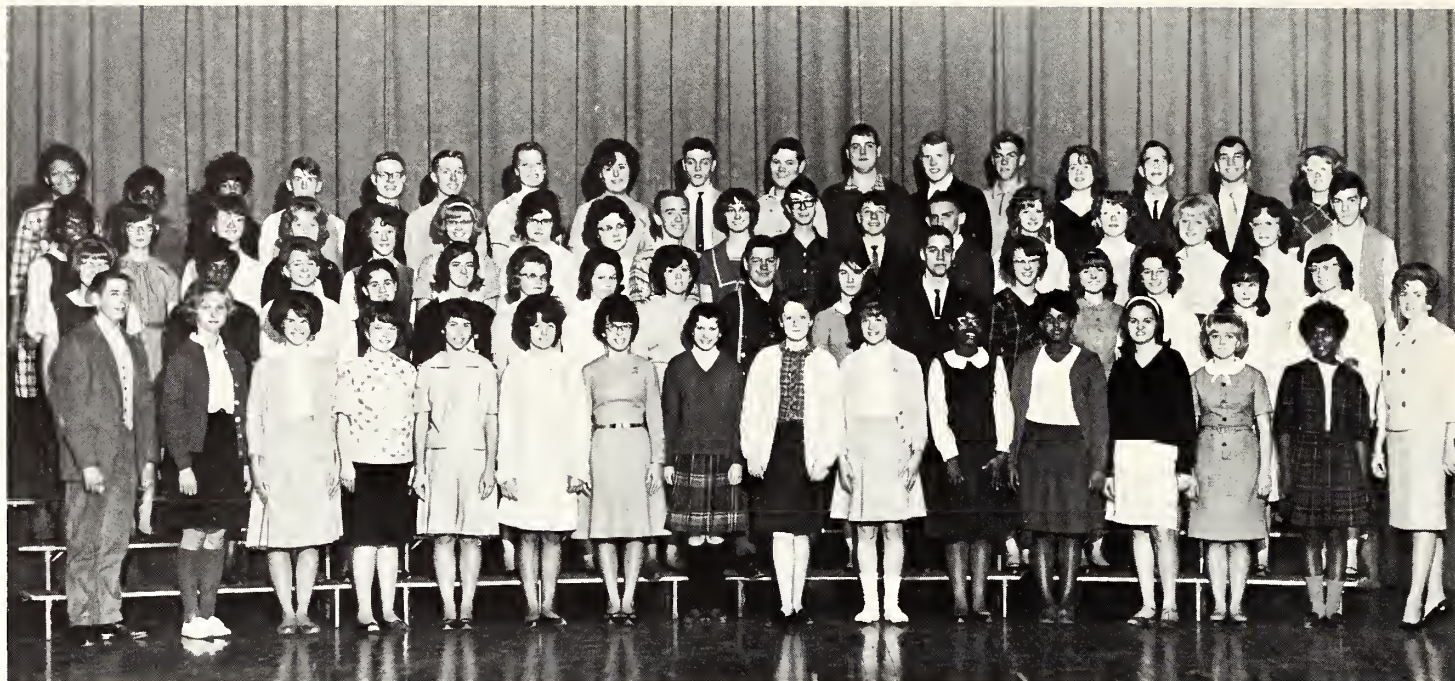

On every school day, the southwest corner of Tech's campus echoed with the mingled sounds of the new lunchroom's construction and the clacking typewriters of the West Residence. These sounds also prevailed after school and during vacations, for the staffers were forced to work hard to get the yearbook out on time.

The Tech Drama-Speech Club enjoyed a big part in the year that was. In October, the club gave four one-act plays at the Mardi Gras. In November, Richard Brinsley Sheridan's "The Rivals" was given under the direction of Mr. Maloy. Other productions were also given.

Miss Mueller became the new sponsor of the Tech Drama-Speech Club in September 1964. She directed one of the Mardi Gras plays and worked on other productions.

Miss Sheila May, Miss Susan Schumacher, Miss Doris Mueller, and Mr. Robert Maloy worked closely with the club all year.

Through Tech Town

The Techoir, directed by Mr. William Moon, was one of the busiest organizations this year, especially at Christmas time. Taping television shows, making records, and caroling on the Circle were only a few of the many activities which kept the Choir busy at Christmas time.

Tech's "ten plus one," the Girls' Ensemble, and Mrs. JoAnne Moore, Sponsor, carried Tech spirit to many Indianapolis citizens through their performances.

Miss Louise Swan's Madrigals, a group of eight boys and eight girls, also kept busy performing programs all around the "Circle City."

Under the direction of Robert Simpson eight boys sang in the Octette last year. These boys performed often at Tech functions.

The Tech Music Club offered many opportunities to the music-minded Techite during the year. One could gain knowledge in the field of music, enjoy recreation with fellow students, and meet new people. This group of musically-inclined students met bi-monthly under the sponsorship of Mr. Richard Orton. The purposes of the Music Club were to present student music programs and promote the appreciation of good music on campus.

The Tech Dance Band was one of the more entertaining organizations on our campus. These boys performed at the Mardi Gras. Chris Hammond announced this program in the Forum. The Dance Band also played at various dances during the year, such as the Turnkey. This organization also participated in various music contests throughout the state.

The world is constantly becoming smaller. With the advancements in communication and transportation that scientists have made in the past few years, we are constantly in touch with other nations. That is the reason that a foreign language is necessary. Being bilingual is a very important requirement in many of today's jobs and the Spanish Department at Tech did its best to equip its students with a knowledge of the language. Under the direction of Miss Rita Sheridan, Mr. Orlando Chomar and Mrs. Maria Lagadon, Tech Spanish students learned how to communicate with our neighbors south of the border. The purpose of the Spanish Club was to acquaint the members with the culture and language of these people.

FRENCH TEACHERS—Mrs. Serine Fine, Mrs. Mary Bedell.

Whether he is of French descent or not, any student at Tech is eligible to learn to speak and write French.

The French Club, sponsored by Mrs. Bedell, published a newspaper last year and issues were printed every two weeks. Club members called their newspaper "Le Fusil (Le Petit Cannon)," which when translated means "The Gun: The Little Cannon." The newspaper's staff was made up of French students at Tech.

The French Club sponsored two booths at the Mardi Gras. One booth was for having your picture taken, and the other one, a French puppet show. Both were very successful.

Another activity of the French Club this past year was a visit to the Indianapolis Zoo. The trip was sponsored by the Language Department and conducted by Mrs. Bedell.

Math Challenged The Mind

Tech freshmen learned math under Mrs. Bolinger.

This was the year that the XYZ Club acquainted students with the uses of mathematics in the business and social world, and discussed the history and development of all branches of mathematics and their relation to the sciences. The purpose of this club was to promote a deeper interest in mathematics outside the allotted school period. Any pupil interested in mathematics was eligible for membership.

There were 98 math classes which held 2,700 students. Each of these students were required to take one of the following kinds of math: Algebra I&II, General Math, Practical Math, Geometry, Applied Math, or Business Math. For the advanced students in mathematics, Tech offered these courses: Algebra III&IV, Trigonometry, Analytic Geometry, Calculus, and College Algebra. Solid Geometry and Math Survey were also offered.

Miss Mary Elizabeth Moore—DEPARTMENT HEAD

This was the year that was very important to history students, because this was the year of the presidential election. The History Department sponsored many events in connection with the election. Under the supervision of Miss Moore, Tech had a political party rally, an assembly with speakers from the State Senate and the state Election Board, and a chance to vote. The comprehension and appreciation of our historical heritage with an interpretation of current problems, as history was being made, were the main objectives of the history teachers. From the courses taught in the department, and the themes each class wrote on "The Challenge of Citizenship," students learned to become better citizens at Tech, in the community, in the nation, and in the world. The department undertook a large share of the responsibility in fitting Tech students for adult life.

History club meetings were interesting and informing as films, slides, trips, and speakers headed the agenda. The club's purpose was to relate to its members in an unusual and interesting manner the past history of the world and the up-to-the-minute news of the day. In accomplishing this purpose, the club was one of the most popular organizations on the campus.

Individuality was the theme of the Art Club and the Art Department. The teachers of art and the sponsor of the Art Club constantly stressed the importance of creativity in bringing out the individual nature of the artist.

The Art Club, under the guidance of Miss Lorena Phemister, met every two weeks, usually on Friday. They often visited art shows, in and around the city.

Scholarships were offered to students who excelled. The scholarships were usually awarded by the school the student was going to attend upon graduation. The Art Department presented a departmental award in memory of Miss Elizabeth Jasper. This award aided the student in purchasing the required art supplies. The department also has a library in memory of Miss Jasper.

Mr. Louis Allen headed a group of able teachers in the Physical Science Department. These teachers imparted knowledge to the many students enrolled in these classes. The classes offered in this department were physics, chemistry and physical science. The students were offered opportunities to study the natural laws of our physical world. Laboratory experiments and demonstrations aided the Physical Science teachers.

This was the year that new interest in the field of Natural Science was developed. This interest was stimulated by the exhibit of the boa constrictors, lizards and various other animals that the department had on display.

The Botany classes trekked across our spacious campus identifying wild flowers and trees. They also learned the structure of the plant and how it lives. The Zoology classes spent their time studying the anatomy of mammals. The Biology course consisted of the subjects studied in the Botany and Zoology classes. The Natural Science Department also offered courses in landscaping, and earth science. These courses gave a better understanding of the living things around us today.

The Business Education Department offered many classes to prepare students for future jobs. Miss Mona Woodward headed this department for aspiring secretaries, typists, bookkeepers and salesmen. Practical experience was given to shorthand and typing students as they assisted other departments at Tech.

Along with the traditional typing and shorthand, Tech offered to students bookkeeping, machine calculation, office practice, business organization and business law. All these business courses were beneficial not only to future secretaries, but also to tomorrow's homemakers and college-bound students. The knowledge in bookkeeping in today's complicated world of business is almost a "must" to future success.

The aim of the Business Education Department was to see that all Techites would be able to assume their places in a modern world of automation.

Our Allied Activities

Many events took place during The Year That Was. Some were traditional like the Mardi Gras and the elections of queens, while others, like 1964 elections, were special events. The Key Club, Service Club and S.A.O. Board were instrumental in Tech's year.

Competition was the keynote at many of Tech's activities ranging from sports to the election of queens. Many occasions called for the election of a queen. Jamboree queen, Homecoming dance and game queens, Miss Snowman of the White Christmas Dance, Freshman, Sophomore, Junior, and Senior Basketball queens, Princess of Light, Track queen, Yard Parks Queen, and the Cannon Ball Queen were some of the titles girls received in the past year.

A Tech year could never be complete without the gay Mardi Gras festival in the fall. The eye-catching decorations in the gym advertised the many booths. Many activities ranging from games to pictures to a marionette show were in the club-sponsored stalls which lined the walls. While these festivities went on in the gym, equal enjoyment was offered in Stuart Hall where the Drama-Speech Club presented four one-act plays. Enjoyment and fun reigned over Tech's traditional Mardi Gras.

Tech's student government, the Student Affairs Organization, sponsored the election of a fine group of representatives to the S.A.O. Board. Representatives from each class, freshman, sophomore, junior, and senior, and appointees from different campus clubs made up the S.A.O. Board. Active in many of our affairs, the Board worked hard to improve the school, sponsoring scholarship, sportsmanship and other committees to benefit Tech.

The 1964 elections, national, state and local, sparked interest and enthusiasm. Sponsored by the Social Studies Department, rallies and mock elections caused some rivalry and arguments, but all the students greatly benefited from the experience.

This Was The Year That Was at Tech, and various organizations contributed to its greatness. Among the outstanding were the Key Club, Service Club, Future Teachers of America, Chess Club and Y-Teens.

The Key Club, Kiwanis-sponsored boy's organization, participated in many of the school's activities. The members, chosen for their citizenship, scholastic ability, and participation in extra curricular activities, represented the club on campus in many of Tech's affairs.

One of the largest clubs on campus was the Service Club. Techites who worked as volunteer messengers, guards, and hall and door monitors made up the club's membership.

Several of Tech's clubs devoted their time to preparing students for future occupations. One such club was the Future Teachers of America. These clubs were very active in campus affairs.

The Chess Club was one of the truly recreational clubs at Tech. Its members worked hard at perfecting their games and having a good time.

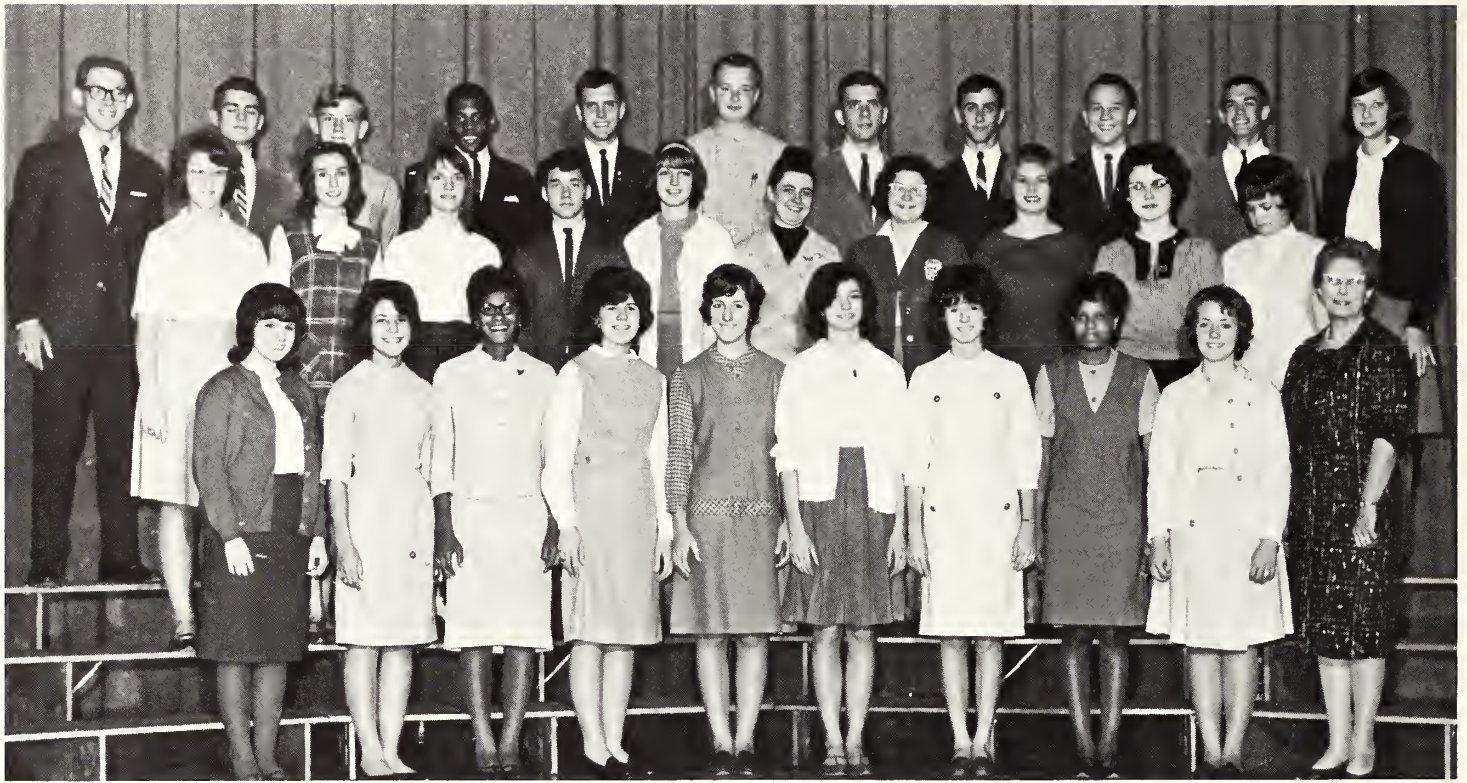

Another active club was the Y-Teens; sponsored by the YWCA, membership is open to any Tech girl.

Our Athletics

Competition sparked life at Tech this past year, as always, in the form of sports. Techites showed their school spirit by turning out for all Tech sports events. Sportsmanship was a keynote at these activities.

In the autumn, freshman, reserve, and varsity football teams battled for victory. The annual homecoming game highlighted this season. Tech's cross country team also competed this season.

The winter season brought out basketball fans to the freshman, reserve, and varsity games. The enthusiasm shown at these games proclaimed the fact that Tech had caught "Hoosier Hysteria." Also through the winter months, Tech's wrestling team fought on mats in true school spirit.

As the seasons changed, so did the sports. Spring now saw the end of basketball, football, and wrestling, and the beginning of track and baseball competition. Tech's varsity baseball team struggled to beat opponents. Freshman, reserve, and varsity squads represented Tech at track meets. The warm spring weather also brought golf and tennis.

Three squads of cheerleaders, freshman, reserve, and varsity, led Tech fans in encouraging our teams toward victory.

Sports really played an important role in The Year That Was.

Opposition meets a Titan in his attempt to score.

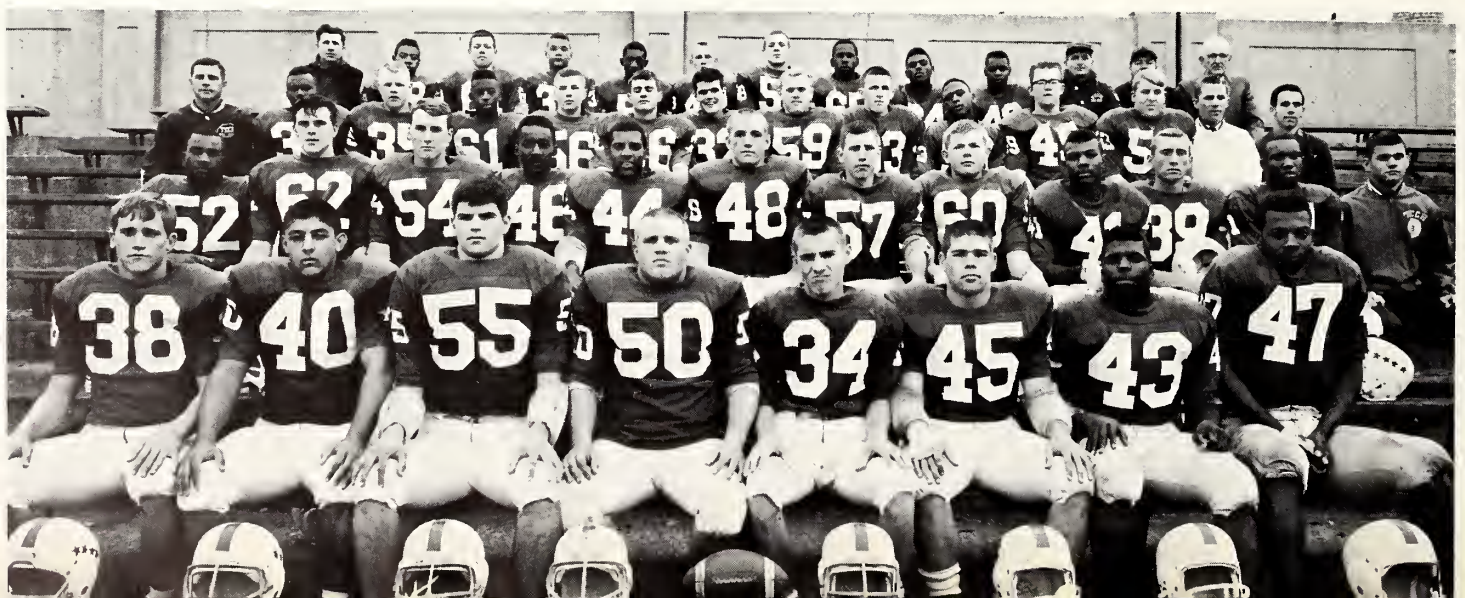

Coach Metcalfe looked worried as the Titans were behind; the score 4 to 11.

Wrestlers are called many names—grapplers, matmen, canvasbacks—but whatever their name they are a band of devoted athletes. The wrestler must rely on brute strength and agility to whip his opponent whether it is by a pin or points. Twelve weight classes make up high school wrestling teams. Each boy must train constantly and watch his diet so that he will be assured of “making weight.” Wrestling is a fast-growing sport at Tech as well as all across the country. The East Portable is the home of the Titan wrestlers. John Hurre coaches the varsity grapplers. Tech had a fourteen match schedule this past winter not including the city and state tournament.

RESERVE BASKETBALL—Front Row: Coach Carl Meditch, Roy Craft, Michael Moss, Dave Waltman, manager. Row 2: Gerald Sears, Jerry Dockery, Mike Hickey, Marvin Tardy. Row 3: Keith Woodard, Ross Furry, Bill Parrish, Bill Thompson, Jesse Ealy.

The reserve, B-team, or sub-varsity basketball squad is just one notch below varsity competition. Composed of sophomores and juniors, each athlete gained valuable experience before making his debut as one of coach Jack Bradford's key men. The reserve tilts begin just before the varsity contests at 6:30 p.m. Carl Meditch has just completed his third year as the "B" team mentor.

read, Joe Norton, Charles Rice, Danny Pride, Jay Reno, Ron Bradley. Row 3: Paul Gillespie, Jerry Taylor, David Bailey, Nathan Appleton, Charles Peyton, Clarence Randolph, Charles Johnson.

Freshman basketball coach Ernie Cline has a twofold purpose: the first is to win games, and the other purpose is to develop promising frosh for future varsity experience. In three years or less, many of these game hoopsters will don "the varsity green" and carry the brunt of Tech's hardcourt hopes. The season's crop of basketballers copped a city championship. The "Little Titans" were certainly the best freshman team in the last five years and one of the best in the Tech Basketball annals.

Tech-Champions.

High jumps like this won the city freshman championship.

TENNIS—Front Row: Keith Phemister, Bob Kollmeyer, Michael Gemmill, Martin Toney.

Racquets Swung and Balls Flew

Dave went after the ball.

Eight boys made up the Tech Tennis Team in The Year That Was. Tech's top players represented our school in tennis matches throughout the state and more excitement than ever before was generated on the courts. This difficult and fast moving game required speedy action, hard work and determination on the part of the boys. "Practice makes perfect" was the motto of the Tech Tennis Team as they devoted each afternoon to practice on the cement courts. Weeks of extensive training made possible the excellence and success achieved by our team last spring in The Year That Was.

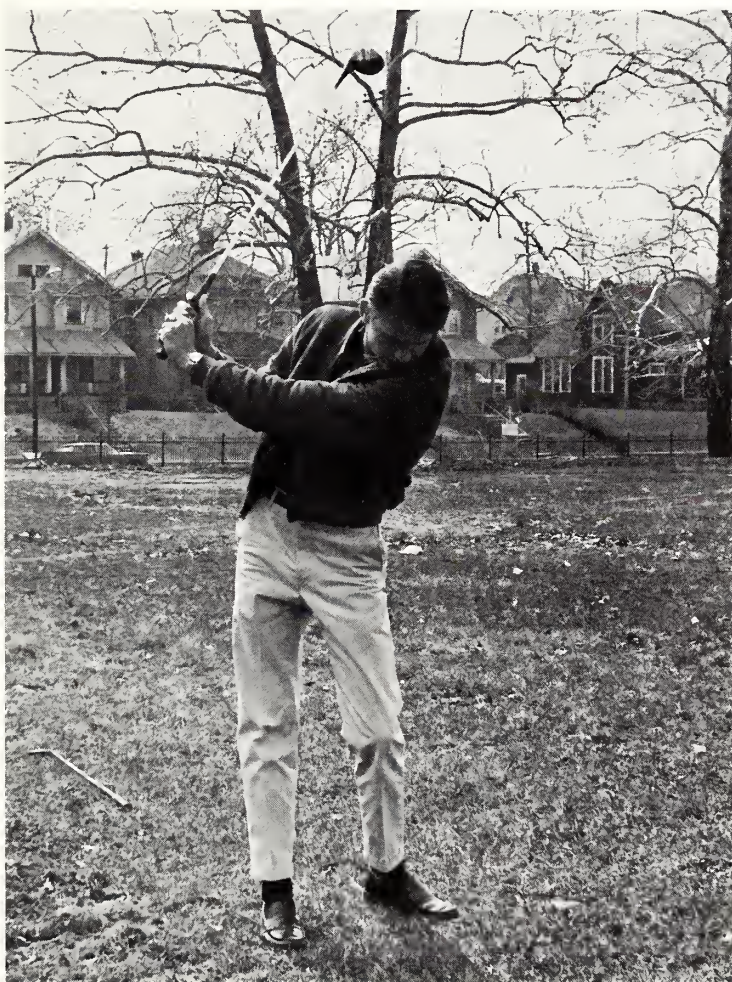

Steve served another one.

Steve Schmidt, Jerry Ferguson, Mike Shackelford, Frank Renfro, Randolph Woods.

Tech Titans Teed Off

It took concentration to be a good golfer.

The snow didn't stop this Titan golfer.

Plans for many victories were made early in the spring.

Practice had to go on, even though the weather did not cooperate.

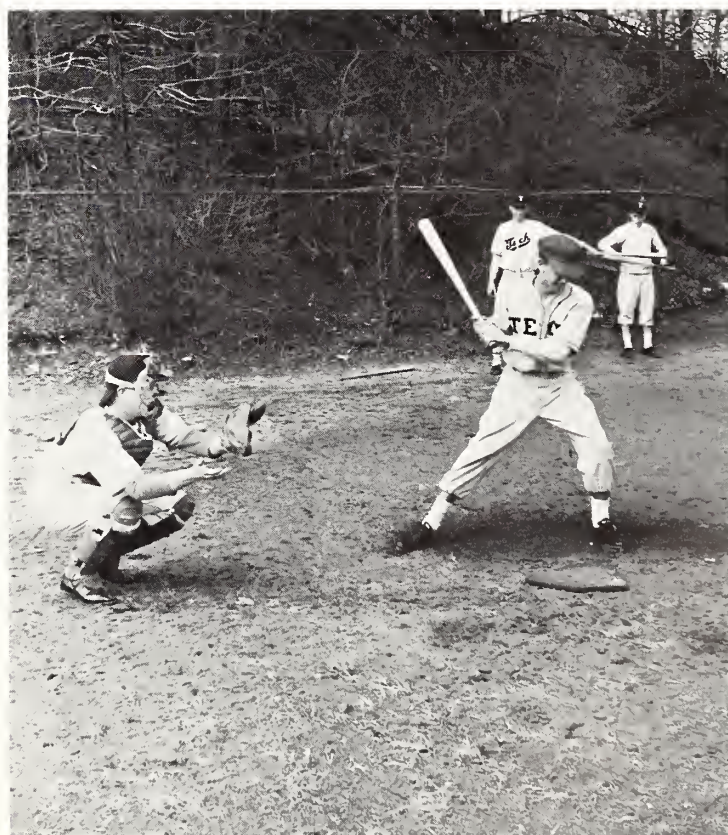

Spring found Techites 'at the old ball game.'

Tech's Babe Ruths

"The wind-up . . . the pitch and Weber throws another strike."

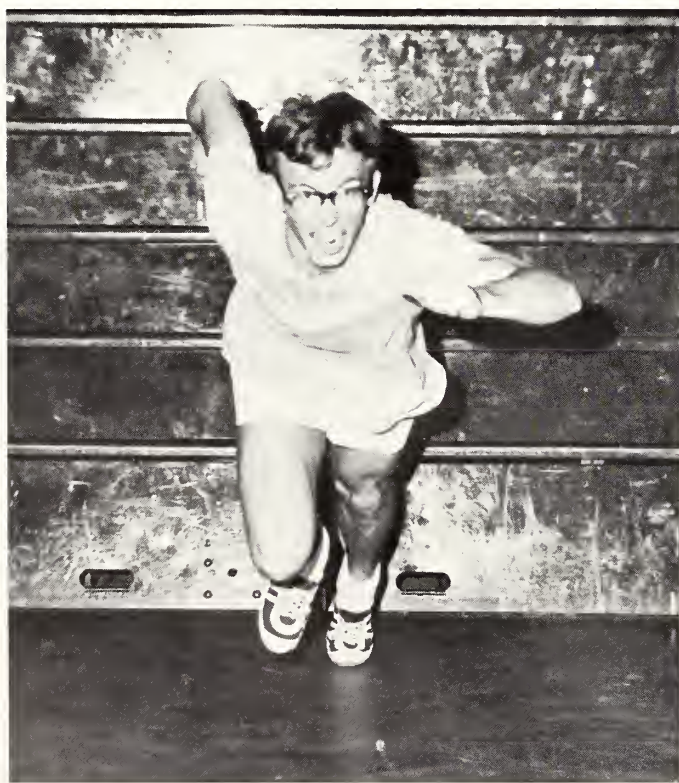

At the plate, another Titan warmed up.

Steve waited for just the right time to take that hurdle.

Spikes, Cinders and Sawdust

Bernie took off enthusiastically.

Tommy warmed up slowly.

Snow, ice, and freezing temperature forced the track team to prepare itself in the gym.

High hurdler Roger puts forth that extra push to make it over the top.

Vigorous Techites led the track team to victory this year. All the obstacles that the team had to overcome such as weather, becoming dizzy practicing running around the gym, and plowing over Sketchbook auditions did not stop our team from coming out of the season ahead.

Practice had to go on, good weather or bad; so John put the shot in the gym.

Our Seniors

One of the busiest and most fun-filled periods in the lives of many Techites is now over. June saw the graduation of over 700 proud Tech students and the completion of four years of hard work.

It seems that only yesterday they, too, were green, young freshmen, viewing Tech for the first time. Now they are four years older, and "experienced" seniors. Time once was filled with only homework and T.V. These filled the senior's time, but senior activities demanded as much. Senior pictures, picnics, committee meetings, Tech Legion, awards, and all the other activities, topped by Vespers, Commencement, and the prom were big events in This (Senior) Year That Was.

Seniors faced the future with varied emotions. Although happy to see the work of high school done, many were sorry to see these happy days end. Many of these Techites looked forward to jobs, others to higher education, and still others to marriage.

Now the years and miles will separate these new Tech alumni, but the memories of these past four years will unite the class of 1965 forever.

Mr. Longshore and Mr. Anderson recalled past experiences.

This was the year that marked the celebration of the one-hundredth birthday of the historic Arsenal Building. Tech's PTA sponsored the celebration and Mr. Hanson Anderson related the history of Tech and of the Arsenal. Later, Mr. Puckett, v-prin. in charge of finances, buildings and grounds gave some inside information of what to expect in the future.

Refreshments were served and tours of the building were conducted by members of the teaching staff and of the PTA.

Mr. Kenneth Puckett spoke to P.T.A. of Tech's future.

PTA Supported Tech Undertakings

P.T.A.: Mrs. Louise Creasser, Rec. Sec.; Mr. Warren Harvey, 1st v-pres.; Mr. Longshore, prin.; Mrs. Evelyn Wilson, pres.; Mr. Anderson, former prin. of Tech High School.

Mr. Anderson told of Tech's first days.

Our Advertisers

Many of the following businesses served the Indianapolis area and especially the Tech district. Our yearbook could not have been possible without these sponsors. These businesses showed their appreciation for Titan patronage by buying space in our advertising section. Their services and products were indispensable to Techites and their families and added to the comfort and enjoyment of The Year That Was.

RCA - at home in Indiana

The people of Indiana are proud of the traditions and skills they have developed for home and country.

The skills and dedication of some 13,000 Indiana men and women are at work for RCA and for you. These neighbors of yours earn as a group millions of dollars a year. They spend most of this money right here in Indiana. This helps local industry.

Money and employment go hand in hand in other ways. For example, RCA dollars help our State through the mountains of materials they purchase here. Transportation benefits through the steady flow of raw materials into RCA plants and the finished RCA Victor products shipped out all over the country. And RCA employees help provide taxes for the schools, roads and other public works throughout the state.

Wherever in America you travel, you will see RCA Victor products in stores and homes. "Made back home in Indiana" you will say to yourself.

The Most Trusted Name in Electronics

Tmk(s)®

Mrs. R gave the impression she was working hard all the time.

Our mighty photographer, Bill Bolander, was on the go in rain, sleet, and snow.

We Acknowledged:

Mr. Puckett beamed as he signed over more money for our great school.

No, it's not a police line-up. It's the line-up of new staffers Ronald Brenner, Janine Fogelman, and Marshall Trimmer.

Mr. Brown did his best to ignore yearbook staffers.

Mr. Lowell L. Dant accepted our yearbooks when they arrived.
